U. S. DESTROYER ORDERED TO SAIL FOR CHINA TODAY

Communist Uprisings In Orient Are Becoming Increasingly Bad

BULLETIN
Manila, P. I., Aug. 2.—(UP)—The United States destroyer Pecos was ordered today to proceed from here full steam for Shanghai to stand by ready to give aid to American citizens in the Kiang province, China, scene of a Communist uprising.

FLY BEFORE REDS
Shanghai, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Yangtze river cities of Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang, with a joint population estimated at several millions, today lay in the path of China's advancing blood-crazed revolting armies and Communist forces.

Thousands of terrified Chinese, hearing their property, sought refuge in the barricaded foreign concessions of Hankow as Communist armies moved toward the tri-cities, fresh from the conquest and destruction of Changsha. The cities were under martial law. The Capital at Nanking also was under military rule. Changsha, smoldering remnant of what once was a prosperous silk manufacturing city, still was reported occupied by remnants of looting red forces, activity of which prevented entry of landing parties from foreign gunboats, standing by in the Yangtze river.

Evacuation of Kiukiang and the nearby mountain summer resort of Kuling was under way. Chinese authorities gave foreigners three days to leave, disclaiming responsibility for them after that time. Nationalist authorities at Nanking explaining establishment of martial law, said it was precautionary against possible Communist activity within the Capital.

BECOMES POTENT BY CLIFFORD DAY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Looting and burning of Chinese interior towns by large forces of armed irregulars appeared today a more potent element among the eastern republic's masses than ever in the history of China's militarism.

The customary rival generals attempting to seize power are absent in the disorders and mass attacks and instead there is a well-developed movement against government officials. There is feeling also against foreigners, who previously had been protected by the war lords.

The raiding forces generally have been called Communists in China. The great majority of the present (Continued on page 2).

KIDNAPED MAN UNDER ARREST AS A WITNESS

Repudiation Of His Identification Of Kidnapers Cause

St. Louis, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Sam Corfina, prosperous St. Louis grocer, kidnaped near East St. Louis, Ill., the night of July 12, today was held by police as a material witness against three men under arrest and charged with kidnaping him for ransom.

In an affidavit Thursday, Corfina repudiated his identification of the three men and said he wanted to take no part in the prosecution of innocent persons. The repudiation caused police little surprise, but when they heard yesterday he planned to return to his native Italy the Circuit Attorney's office ordered his arrest.

Taken before Chief of Police Gerk, Corfina admitted the details of the identification, Gerk said. When questioned about his about face, Gerk said he replied:

"My head hurts me; I'm nervous and shaky; my wife and kiddies are crying all the time. I want to go back to Italy."

In an attempt at explanation of his change of front, it was stated in his affidavit that Corfina speaks English with great difficulty and "that he learned through interpreters that his statements had been misconstrued." Gerk scoffed at this explanation, saying the grocer speaks good English and has done so for a long time.

Assistant State's Attorney Curt C. Lindauer has threatened to file a perjury charge against Corfina unless he returns to his original version of the kidnaping.

Osteopaths Cannot Use Anaesthetics

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Use of anaesthetics in obstetrical cases by osteopathic practitioners, is barred in Illinois, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has informed the State Department of Registration and Education in an interpretation of the Medical Practice Act.

The Attorney General pointed out that under the act, persons who seek to practice any system of treating ailments without the use of drugs and without operative surgery are excused from taking an examination in the subject of materia medica, when applying for a state license.

"I am therefore of the opinion," he said, "that the holders of restricted licenses under any prior act or the present act, giving them the right to practice osteopathy and obstetrics, may not use anaesthetics and other drugs in obstetrical cases."

Injunction Against Woodmen Dismissed

Nashville, Ill., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The temporary injunction enjoining the Head Camp of the Modern Woodmen of America from collecting increased rates for fraternal insurance was dissolved in the Washington County Circuit Court here last night by Judge H. G. Miller after 10 hours of argument on the issue.

In sustaining the motion of the counsel for the Modern Woodmen of America, the largest fraternal insurance society in the country and setting aside the writ of injunction issued by Judge Bertruetter on July 24, Judge Miller ruled that the by-laws of the society as adopted by its 1929 Head Camp are in full force and that operations should not be interfered with.

Bureau Politician Suicided Last Eve

He had shot himself while brooding over illness. Until two years ago he was employed as a guard in a federal warehouse maintained by the prohibition department at Chicago.

WELCH HOME ON FIRST ST. WAS ROBBED FRIDAY

Thief Entered And Gathered Loot With One of Family Home

Another Dixon home has been robbed and a large amount of valuable clothing taken, but on the last occasion, the burglary was conducted at broad daylight, instead of under cover of darkness. Police were summoned to the home of Frank Welch, 624 First street, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. While one member of the family was seated on the front porch and two children were playing in a room on the second floor, the intruder entered, selected such garments as he chose, wrapped them carefully in a heavy paper bag and apparently was deliberate in all of his actions.

Entrance was gained by cutting a hole in a window screen, through which the hook was unfastened, releasing the window covering. Activity was centered almost entirely in one bedroom, where the following women's wearing apparel was selected from closets and drawers: one lady's winter coat, one girl's white dotted silk dress, one tan silk dress, one black and white silk dress, several house dresses, several pairs of silk stockings and undergarments and one lady's tan hat. Jewelry and other valuables were unharmed.

Stranger Seen.
A neighbor reported to the police last night having seen a strange man walking along the Illinois Central right of way from First to Second streets where he went west. It was also learned that a stranger had attempted to dispose of some clothing at a west end place of business.

The police conducted a thorough search in an effort to locate the bold burglar, visiting all of the hobo camps and railroad yards. Chief Van Bibber declared a campaign against hobos, tramps, bums and suspicious looking strangers today and all who were found were immediately advised to seek other climes.

The Chief stated that he was of the opinion that the same person who robbed the Welch home yesterday afternoon entered the William Dauntler residence on Peoria avenue a week ago. Similar robberies have been reported in Polo and Sterling.

Allow Carnera To Stay Until Dec. 31

Washington, Aug. 2.—(UP)—The Immigration Board of the Labor Department ruled today that Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight fighter, might remain in this country until Dec. 31, 1930. Overruling a previous decision, it extended the Italian's permit to stay in this country for a period of six months from June 31, on which his previous stay expired.

The decision followed a hearing yesterday at which Carnera and his attorneys appeared before the Board of Review of the Immigration Service. The Italian behemoth here intervened on his behalf.

Reversal of his previous decision was based by Labor Department officials partly on the ruling of several boxing commissions as to Carnera's eligibility, it was understood. The huge boxer wanted to stay in the United States to seek the heavyweight championship, and his manager, Leon See, claimed at the hearing that he had a tentative engagement for Carnera to fight Max Schmeling for the title.

Fifteen Drown In Japanese Floods

Tokio, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Fifteen persons were killed and many others were believed drowned in floods that inundated parts of Central Japan today.

It was estimated that more than 1,000 houses were destroyed or damaged by the sudden flow of water. Communication lines from the stricken district were destroyed.

The flood was caused by continuous rainstorms during the past few days.

Roosevelt Bank In Chicago Is Closed

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Roosevelt State Bank with deposits of $1,390,000 was ordered closed by the State Auditor today because of a cash shortage caused by heavy withdrawals. The bank is located near a Negro neighborhood and it was reported that the withdrawals resulted from the closing last week of the Bunge State Bank, a Negro bank which had deposits of $1,200,000.

Radio Singer Quizzed In Killing of Famous Detroit Announcer

Marjorie Mansell, above 21-year-old radio singer, was arrested at Detroit for questioning in connection with the murder of Gerald Buckley, crusading radio announcer. Officers say she was a close friend of Pete Licavoli, "key man" in the case, who's auto was found in her possession.

CONTINUED DRY, HOT WEATHER IN AUGUST, OUTLOOK

Prediction Of Forecaster Brings Despair To Midwest Farmers

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Weather predictions of "fair and warmer" brought despair today to farmers of five midwestern states where crops were withering under one of the most protracted dry spells in the memory of the oldest residents.

Pastures, as well as corn and other late crops, were reported suffering from the drought in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. Butter and cream records showed an almost unprecedented decrease in dairy production due apparently to poor pasturage.

C. A. Donnel, Federal weather forecaster for the Chicago district, said rainfall in the five states during July was only 35 per cent of normal. Many localities, he said, have had no rain since early last month.

Drought conditions may be aggravated during August, Donnel said, by record hot weather which would draw even more moisture from the parched ground. He predicted less than normal rainfall for the next month.

Quarter of Normal
"Precipitation for the rest of the nation was about normal for the remainder of the nation during July," Donnel said, "but in the arid section of the midwest the rainfall in several localities was less than half of normal. For the entire year the decrease has been about 27 per cent and for July the precipitation was even less."

Records of the Weather Bureau here show that the driest place in the midwest is Estherville, Ia., where no rain has fallen since July 8. Sioux City, Ia., Urbana, Ill., and Terre Haute, Ind., have had no rain for three weeks.

"Unusual locations of low and high pressure areas are responsible for the drought in this section," Donnel said. "Millions of tons of water have been evaporated from the upper Great Lakes this summer, but the resultant rain has fallen in other sections."

"A consistent high pressure area in the southwest, which defies explanation, is one reason for the continued drought."

The rainfall records, in inches, for July in the states which have suffered most from the drought:

State	Normal	July	1930	Decrease
Illinois	3.30	1.22	2.08
Indiana	3.40	1.09	2.31
Iowa	3.63	.91	2.72
Michigan	3.00	.73	2.27
Wisconsin	3.72	2.33	1.39

Two Fire Alarms

The fire department was summoned to Fifth Street and Peoria avenue this morning at 7 o'clock where crossed wires in an automobile had started a smouldering fire which was quickly extinguished. Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the department was called to the Illinois Central right of way north of Upham place where another grass fire was extinguished.

WIRE FENCE TO BE ERECTED ON THE RIVER BANK

City Plans Better Protection At West End Of Parking Space

Commissioner John H. Loftus of the Department of Streets, will place a force of workmen on the city's parking space from Hennepin to Peoria avenue Monday morning, erecting a fence along the river bank. The type of protection along the west parking space will be much different than the heavy concrete blocks which now protect traffic between Hennepin and Galena avenues.

Heavy woven wire fencing of the same type as now in use by the state highway department, will be used. Posts will be set along the river bank and the wire fencing, which is placed one foot from the ground, will extend east from the new Peoria avenue bridge across Hennepin avenue. Efforts will be made to have the fence completed by next Wednesday when the bridge will be informally opened with a celebration, which has been previously announced.

A temporary driveway from the east side of south approach to the new bridge is also to be installed the early part of the week, so that the parking space will be available for use when the bridge is thrown open to traffic next week. Later it is planned to place a cement slab along the space west of Hennepin avenue which will conform with the strip of cement east of the avenue.

It was also reported today that the Illinois Northern Utilities company and the park board in plan to beautify the parking space from Peoria to Galena avenue, will submit two propositions for the consideration of the city commission at a Tuesday evening's meeting. It was intimated that the plans would cover the removal of poles along River street, which would materially add to the appearance of the space.

Mrs. Sarah Suydan Was Fatally Hurt

Word has been received by Dixon relatives of the death of Mrs. Sarah Suydan, formerly Miss Sara Guyot, resulting from injuries sustained in an automobile accident near her home at Ellensburg, Wash. Mrs. Suydan was riding with her two children and two aunts, Misses Lillias and Mary Lawrence, when a car after passing the car from behind them hit the car, upsetting it in a ditch.

All of the occupants were taken to the Ellensburg hospital where Mrs. Suydan died several days later without regaining consciousness. The two aunts, while still in the hospital, are not considered to have been seriously injured, suffering largely from shock and the children were uninjured. The car was badly wrecked.

Lockjaw Fatal To Whiteside Co. Boy

Sterling—Robert Burdett Moloney, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moloney residing west of Como in Hopkins township, died from lockjaw at 1 o'clock Friday morning in the Sterling public hospital. The boy was taken ill Tuesday morning and brought to the hospital Wednesday morning, where a consultation of doctors was called to diagnose his case.

Last Sunday the lad was kicked in the back by a cow at his farm home, but apparently did not suffer any serious injury which would have caused lockjaw. His death is believed to have resulted from a diseased tooth or from a blister on his heel which became infected.

Murdered Girl Is Gangster's Sister

Cleveland, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Relatives today identified the body of a girl found shot to death near Berea, O., early today, as that of Mrs. Christina Colletto, 21, niece of Charles Colletto Cleveland gangster.

The identification was made through initials in the wedding ring the girl wore.

Mrs. Mary Rambaldo, sister, said the girl left home shortly before 10 o'clock last night. The horn of an automobile sounded outside and Christina put on her coat and went outside and drove away, the sister told police.

POLICE WILL ATTEND ALL FUTURE SERVICES AT WOOD RIVER FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, RESULT QUARREL

GUARDSMEN OF STATE NOW IN ANNUAL CAMP

Will Spend Fortnight In Intensive Work At Camp Grant

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 2.—(UP)—National Guardsmen, ten thousand strong, from forty cities in Illinois encamped at Camp Grant today to participate in the annual two week week camp period which will be concluded on August 16.

This army of men represents the largest number of National Guardsmen ever to be trained at Camp Grant. Heretofore nearly 2,000 artillerymen were trained in Wisconsin New York and Kentucky, where artillery ranges were available. When the last session of the legislature passed an act providing for the purchase of a $600,000 tract of land near Camp Grant to be used as an artillery range, immediate plans were made to station the Illinois artillerymen here this summer. However, plans for the range were delayed and it will not be ready for use until next summer.

Plans for the tour have been completed and various commands will train as one division for the first time. On of the outstanding features included on the two week program will be the sham battle which will be staged to demonstrate and teach defensiveness and offensiveness of various groups.

Troops that are encamped are from the various cities: Aurora, Carbondale, Cairo, Champaign, Chicago, Danville, Decatur, Delavan, Dixon, Elgin, Galesburg, Joliet, Kankakee, Kewanee, Lawrenceville, Maywood, Monmouth, Mt. Morris, Oak Park, Ottawa, Paris, Peoria, Pontiac, Quincy, Rockford, Rock Island, Salem, Springfield, Sterling, Streator, Sullivan, Sycamore, Urbana, Waukegan, and Yorkville.

Lewis Thinks United States Is Cowardly

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(UP)—James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, believes this country's recent policy in China will lead to a place where America will be treated with contempt and branded as a coward before all mankind.

"Today brings us news of the seventh assault upon American citizens and the murder of our missionaries and our merchants in China," Lewis told a meeting of Spanish War Veterans.

"We have gone to the extreme in our effort for peace," he said, "and now we are treated by European nations as too supine and too cowardly to defend our citizens and protect our interests in any part of Europe, while Asia treats us as too cowardly to defend Americans when assailed in China or Japan."

Thomson Planning Annual Melon Day

Good attractions are planned and many worthwhile events will be offered to make the day a huge success. Definite announcements are to be published soon.

Glider Pilot Met Death In Crack Up

Hawthorne, Calif., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Earl Lyon, 27, was electrocuted here last night when the shock cord with which his glider was being towed by an automobile parted and hurled him into a high tension wire carrying 22,000 volts.

The glider, a twisted mass of smoking wreckage, clung to the ground. He died en route to a hospital.

Indiana Spinster Leaped To Death

Indianapolis, Aug. 2.—(UP)—A leap from the fifth floor of the Knights of Pythias building, Indianapolis, ended the life of Miss Nellie McCloskey, 50, Indianapolis, today.

Ill health was blamed for the act by a sister, Miss Angie.

Eighty per cent of the automobiles stolen in New York are recovered.

POLICE WILL ATTEND ALL FUTURE SERVICES AT WOOD RIVER FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, RESULT QUARREL

Some of the members began arguing among themselves and when my husband sought to stop them he was invited to fight it out," Mrs. Moore said.

"Instead of fighting, my husband called the police but the troublemakers left before the officers arrived."

"My husband has made arrangements to have several police in the congregation at the next prayer meeting to prevent a similar situation," she said.

JACK ZUTA, MORAN GANG MANAGER; IS SLAIN AT RESORT

At Same Time Scarface Al Was Celebrating At Cicero Hotel

BULLETIN.
Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Comparing pictures and Bertillon measurements brought here by Chicago newspaper men with the body of a man slain by machine gun bullets at Lakeview Resort last night, District Attorney Herman R. Salen of Waukesha county announced today he was positive the victim was Jack Zuta, business manager of the Moran-Aiello gang of Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Murder marked "Scarface" Al Capone's return to his old haunts today. While the gang leader was resting in Cicero after celebrating his return with a party for 100 guests, word came from Delafield, Wis., that the victim of a gang attack there in the night had been identified tentatively as Jack Zuta, one of Capone's most militant enemies.

As business manager of the Moran-Aiello gang and once suspected of the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune police reporter who was Capone's friend, Zuta narrowly escaped assassination in the Chicago loop a month ago.

"Always Get Their Man."
Now if the tentative identification in the Wisconsin summer resort turns out to be positive it will prove, according to the police, that the Capones always get their man.

Pat Roche, Chief Investigator for the Cook County State's Attorney's office, after telephoning Delafield, said he was convinced the victim was Zuta. He left immediately for Waukesha county to investigate what connection the murder had with the Chicago gang wars.

The Wisconsin murder was executed with the same confident skill that have marked numerous other crimes which the police have credited to Capone gunmen.

After the body was picked up the inevitable "bootleggers list" was found in one pocket and the usual large roll of bills in the other. Waukesha county authorities said the bills amounted to $1900.

Scene of Gaily.
The scene of the shooting was the Lake View Resort hotel at Delafield, 25 miles west of Milwaukee. Gaily was reaching its crest near midnight at the hotel. The player piano was playing a fox trot and approximately 20 couples were sliding about the dance floor. Outside other couples were frolicking on the beach of a small lake.

At the same time "Scarface" Al Capone was entertaining 100 guests at the Hotel Western in Cicero, a west side Chicago suburb. He was celebrating his return from Miami where the climate, not to mention the authorities, "got too hot for me." But the police theory that the Wisconsin killing was a "Capone job" may be wrong. At any rate the Capone party is another story. Meanwhile let C. A. Schmidt of Wauwatosa, Wis., an eye-witness to the Wisconsin shooting, tell what he saw at the Lakeview hotel in Delafield:

Witness' Story.
"While I was standing at the door of the dance hall seven or eight men walked in quietly. Two stopped near the door and leaned against the wall. No one paid them any special attention and they just stood there without showing much interest in the dancing."

"I think there were five men who came on into the hall where a number of couples were dancing. They waited until the music stopped. Then they closed in on their victim and pushed aside the girl he had been dancing with. That was when I noticed their guns for the first time. They had a short machine gun, several sawed-off shot guns and one or two automatic pistols."

"Without any apparent effort they edged their man over into a corner where he was out of the way of the others. Then without warning, they let him have it. There was a roar that shook the hall like thunder. Then everything was quiet. The room filled with smoke."

"The man they had shot just crumpled up on the floor without saying anything at all."

Second's Warning.
"He couldn't have had more than a second's warning."

"As the man fell two of the gangsters pointed their guns up and fired into the ceiling. I took it as a signal that no one had better interfere."

"Keeping their backs together they eased over by the door keeping their guns pointed at the dancers. Outside the building they disappeared around a corner. A minute later I heard their cars speeding up. They seemed deliberate and in no special hurry. I didn't hear them say a word during the whole performance."

"I was near the door and saw the cars. Both were big cars. Some one said they had Illinois licenses."

"For a moment after they left all was silent. Then a woman screamed and fainted. Two of the men (Continued on page 2).

PLANE TOOK OFF ON ROUND-WORLD TRIP THIS MORN

Mears Will Attempt New Speed Record In Circling The Globe

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Aug. 2.—(UP)—John Henry Mears, serial globe trotter, and Henry J. Brown, air mail pilot, took off at 5:40 A. M. E. S. T. today on a flight around the world in which they hope to break the Graf Zeppelin's record for the circuit.
Their speedy Lockheed-Vega rose from the field a little after dawn and headed for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, first stop on a 17,775 mile journey.
Mears expected to reach Harbor Grace in nine hours, or by 2:40 o'clock this afternoon, and start across the Atlantic tomorrow morning if the weather continues favorable.
"We might even start tonight if necessary," the noted traveler said.
Carries Boat
The plane, christened the "City of New York," was equipped with $3,000 worth of special apparatus, including a collapsible air-inflated boat for use in case the ship is forced down at sea.
From Harbor Grace the fliers will make a 1,900 mile water jump to Iceland and stop at Baldonnel airport, Dublin, for refueling. Then they will make a 900 mile hop to Berlin.
Another 1,200 miles will take them to Moscow, and from there they will begin a long trek across Russia and Siberia, with stops at Novosibirsk, Chita, Khabarovsk and Petropavlovsk, Siberia.
Another water jump of 1,900 miles will take the fliers on the route to Chignik, Alaska, and Seattle, Wash. From there they will proceed to Spokane to cross the Rockies, and then swing across the North American continent for the home field.
The plane's landing gear will be replaced by pontoons for the flights across the water.
Twice before Mears had held the record for traveling around the world. He won it first in 1913 from Andre Jaeger-Schmidt when he utilized plane, train and ship to accomplish it in 35 days, 21 hours. That record stood until 1928, when Edward Evans and Linton Wells cut the time to 28 days, 14 hours and 36 minutes. Mears won back the title the same year with Capt. C. B. D. Collyer, cutting the time to 23 days, 15 hours and 21 minutes. Plane and ship were used.
The Graf Zeppelin circled the globe in 21 days, 8 hours and 21 minutes.
Mears' plane is capable of a speed of 186 miles an hour, but cruises at around 150 miles an hour. It has a cruising radius of 2,000 miles with 46 gallons of gasoline in its tanks.

Dead Indian Chief Remembered by Many Who Saw Him at Park

A number of Dixon people had the pleasure of meeting at Starved Rock the Winnebago chief, Big Bear, whose American name was Oliver La Mere, who died in a hospital at LaSalle Wednesday of pneumonia, and regret to hear of his passing. He was but 50 years old.
The chief was a lineal descendant of the rulers of his tribe, having been hereditary chief of the Winnebagoes. He was the director of the Indian pageants held on the plateau near Starved Rock this summer, and was the manager of the encampment.
To a reporter a few weeks ago he stated the Winnebago Indians regard themselves as descendants of the mound builders. He advised there are direct evidences of it. Chief Bear was a man of stocky build with large head, neck and shoulders and had an erect carriage. His features were good and strong and he looked steadily into one's eye as he spoke. He was one of the leaders in the concerted movement to prevent the further despoliation of Indian graves in Illinois and Wisconsin by those who dig for Indian relics and skeletons.
The body of the chief was to be taken to the Indian reservation in Nebraska for an Indian ceremonial burial, which will last four days.

Four "Endurers" Pass Half Way Mark Today

St. Louis, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Forest O'Brien and Dale Jackson had passed the halfway mark today in their attempt to shatter the refueling endurance record of 553 hours, held by the Hunter brothers, of Sparta, Ill. At 7:11 a. m. (CST) they had been aloft in their endurance monoplane "Greater St. Louis," 288 hours and they had flown 18,000 miles since taking off.
Roosevelt Field, L. I., Aug. 2.—(UP)—With nine new spark plugs in its engine, the endurance plane carrying Louis Reichers and Robert Black dropped past its 299th hour in the air at 7:34 a. m. today.
Reichers changed the plugs yesterday "just for practice." The crew of the refueling plane noticed the endurance plane's windshield had been broken, but no explanation was forthcoming.
CANDIDATES ARMED
Juarez, Mex., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Twelve men, including Manuel Aviles, candidate for Congress in the recent Chihuahua election, were disarmed by police when they marched on the city hall today. They were carrying pistols, iron bars and sticks, in a demonstration against the new administration installed late yesterday.

HEROIC FEAT OF R 100'S JOURNEY REVEALED TODAY

Two Members Of Crew Of Dirigible Worked In Dark Fixing Fin

By GILBERT DRAPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Montreal, Canada, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Canada began its program of welcome today to the 44 British aviators whose flight across the North Atlantic and up the storm-swept St. Lawrence valley brought the Dominion into closer touch with the mother country and forecast regular air lines between Montreal and London.
The official reception for the officers and crew of the dirigible R-100 was set for 3 P. M. today, when the authorities of the Dominion and provincial governments, and the municipalities of Montreal and St. Hubert, will extend their congratulations on the successful completion of the arduous flight.
Most Heroic Feat
The most heroic feat of the entire flight was not revealed until the dirigible had moored and its officers landed. It was the repair work on the damaged fin, done by two of the crew, G. E. Long and L. A. Moncrieff, while the ship was flying.
High in the air over the St. Lawrence valley, darkness around them and only the thin fabric of the R-100 supporting them, Long and Moncrieff lay face downwards for hours, patching the torn fin of the dirigible.
It was still day when the fin was torn, forcing immediate repairs if the possibility of disaster were to be avoided, but darkness overtook the two men before their work was half finished. The ship's speed was reduced to almost a standstill, and its altitude lowered to 1,000 feet as the two men clambered out on the surface and began their task.
To Follow Program
When Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, the commander, radioed St. Hubert airport he would land at dawn, repairs still were going on, and it was not for hours afterward that Long and Moncrieff, tired and chilled by the strong winds, drew themselves back into the ship's interior and announced the repairs would suffice until they landed.
Five thousand gallons of petrol were put aboard the dirigible yesterday while some of the crew made permanent repairs to the damaged fin. The fuel, it was announced, would take the ship on its scheduled flights to Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton, and the next refueling will not take place until just before the ship departs for England on Aug. 14 or 15.
That announcement removed all questions of whether the damage to the fin would cause cancellation of plans for the proposed flights.

"Good for one ride" are the four words printed on small tickets which Dr. Raymond Worsley is handing to his host of friends who instead of condoling with the genial dentist, prefer to jest over his experience of Tuesday night. "Doc" stood for all of the sympathy and jesting and then had the tickets printed and when reference is made to Tuesday night's escapade, one of the tickets is freely passed out to the conversationalist.

raiders were drawn from the thousands of peasants made homeless by military campaigns and crop failures.

The chief purpose of their outlawry was to secure food which could be done only by raids on the cities. Communist agitators in China found such a situation ripe for their efforts and have attempted to take advantage of the situation. Situation Ripe
The actions of the raiding "army" in the Changsha region of Hunan province have been directed against the government, upon urging by the Communists, but have included anarchy and simple looting by jobless and hungry bands.
Many observers saw in the present movement, which involves many types of restless and dissatisfied natives, a greater menace to foreign lives and property than previously in this crisis.
The present outbreak in the Hunan province area and the pillaging of Changsha was believed to be the largest concentration of destructive elements in history.
Although British and American interests have been chiefly concerned with the destruction at Changsha, Japan has now expressed a fear that the movement might spread to Manchuria where she has large investments and many colonists.
Hankow offered the most glittering prize for the looters in the more southern region, with Nanchang and Kukiang big prizes. Refugees arriving at Hankow from Changsha reported the movement to be a sort of Chinese Communism, with the first object of destroying the government and foreign property.

GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA IS REVIEWING CASE

Hears Repudiation Of Mooney Witnesses: Court Recessed

BY GEORGE D. CRISSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
San Francisco, Aug. 2.—(UP)—The California Supreme Court laid aside the retrial of Warren W. Billings today so Gov. C. C. Young might review evidence on which Thomas J. Mooney was convicted of complicity in the San Francisco bombing July 22, 1916.
Although the two men were convicted of the same crime on virtually the same evidence it was necessary that their cases be reviewed in a different manner. The court must act for Billings because he was previously convicted while the governor has the power to free Mooney.
John MacDonald, one of two reputed witnesses in the case, occupied an important position in the hearing before Gov. Young, to open in Sacramento late today. He will declare again that his identification of Billings and Mooney as the dynamiters of a Preparedness Day Parade was false.
Woman Not to Appear
The other repudiated witness, Estelle Smith, will not testify at the Mooney hearing as she was not a witness at his trial.
Miss Smith, however, furnished an alibi for both prisoners during her appearance before the court with the issue that Frank P. Walsh, Attorney for Mooney, announced he would seek an entire new trial for his client.
"Where Billings was there was Mooney," Walsh declared in commenting on the Smith woman's story that she saw Billings coming from the roof of a building almost a mile away from the bombing scene at about the same time the explosion occurred.
The two repudiated witnesses added little to the case in the opinion of the court, and created great confusion in the fight of the pair for freedom from the prisons where they have spent almost 14 years.
The Sacramento session, which will be attended by the governor and members of his Pardon advisory board, will be brief one, the plan being to conclude it tonight.
Monday the Supreme Court will resume its deliberations.

dancers went over and touched the body with their shoes. No saw the girl who had been dancing with the victim.
"She seemed to have slipped away unnoticed."
"Pretty soon the officers came."
Registered from Aurora.
The victim had registered as J. H. Goodman of Aurora, Ill., but after talking on the telephone with the Chicago Detective Bureau, the Wisconsin authorities were convinced that the victim was Jack Zuta. "Goodman" had been flitting about the Wisconsin resort region for more than a week, changing hotels and companions frequently.
Meanwhile, in Chicago police had been searching for Zuta. He had not been seen here since June 1 when he escaped in a fusillade of bullets in brilliantly lighted State Street. He had been arrested as a suspect in the Lingle case and after his release was being escorted home by Lieut. George Barker, when rival gangsters held up the car near the Postoffice and opened fire.
Zuta fled while Barker shot it out with the assailants. A street car conductor was slain by one of the stray bullets from the battle.

Vault Constructed For Lincoln Found

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2.—(AP)—A receiving vault for Abraham Lincoln's body, built in 1865, but never used, was uncovered on the State House ground yesterday by workmen.
The vault is of brick with walls 18 inches thick and an inner surface of eight feet between walls. It arches at the top. Workmen, building a conduit from the State House to the Capitol and Centennial Building unearthed the vault.
After completion of the receiving vault in 1865, records show, word was received from Washington that Mrs. Lincoln desired the Emancipator be laid to rest at Oak Ridge cemetery. This was done and the vault covered and forgotten.

Groceries, Meats At Lowest Prices

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(A.P.)—Thrifty housewives whose big job has been to make both ends meet should have an easier time of it now, even though Hubby's pay check has been affected. Both groceries and meats are at their lowest levels in several years, separate statements issued today by Institute of America Packers and the Chicago Retail Grocers and Butchers Association disclosed.

Examples cited included strictly fresh eggs, now retailing at an average of 33 cents, compared to 43 in 1926; coffee, now 29 where it was 49 four years ago; potatoes 55 cents a peck instead of 75; butter, 45 instead of 59; extra fancy green beans at 10 cents a quart which sold for 25 cents a few months back; and fresh peas down to 15 cents from 25 cents a pound.

The meat packers said beef is from one-fifth to one-third lower than a year ago, depending on the grade and weight. Dressed lamb prices are from 25 to 35 per cent lower than last year, but pork prices have held steadier generally.

Citrus fruits such as oranges and grape fruit are not much cheaper, because, the statement said, the industry is well organized and able to maintain a fairly level price range. Similarly, the statement said, there has been little change in the price of flour, although the farmer is receiving 40 per cent less for his wheat. The well organized milling industry was credited for maintaining its price levels.

Official Is Waiting Birth Of Royal Babe

Glamis, Scotland, Aug. 2 (AP). The mill boy who became His Majesty's Secretary of State for Home Affairs, J. R. Clynes, will soon come here to be present at the birth of the baby expected by the Duchess of York early this month.

This is in accordance with the ancient British law which decrees that the birth of a possible heir to the throne must be attested by a Secretary of State.

Mr. Clynes will carry out this state duty in the same manner in which the birth of the Prince of Wales was attested by the late Lord Asquith.

Asquith sat behind a screen in Queen Mary's room. At that time she was the Duchess of York. The princess of Wales, who later became Queen Alexandra, was with Asquith. When the present dashing young Crown Prince was born the Princess of Wales, wearing a blue dressing gown, carried the infant in her arms and showed him to Asquith. The Home Secretary then went back and reported the historical fact to his government and the royal birth was duly registered.

A special room in Glamis Castle has been reserved for Mr. Clynes and he will be the guest of the Duke and Duchess of York.

Should the expected infant be a boy he will be third in line, after the Prince of Wales and Duke of York, for the crown, displacing his sister Princess Elizabeth.

Her next step will be to make the toys of painted tin.

LADIES OF G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY EVENING—The regular meeting of the G. A. R. Circle will be held at the G. A. R. hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock and a full attendance of the members is desired.

More than 200 self-help students are expected to enroll at North Carolina state college this year.

YOUR CHILDREN by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Someone said recently, "Summer is a state of mind."

If anyone wants to know, I'll say it is.

Some people are perfect salamanders the hotter it is, the better they like it. The mental lassitude that goes with heat prostration is probably a state of mind more or less. New thought might be of help.

I am convinced that common-sense will go far, particularly for the mother with a family of children.

Now in summer it seems that every requirement of living has conspired to make it harder for the mother.

Washings and ironings are bigger, there is more sewing and mending, more washing and dressing of the small fry, the outside of the house is to be looked after as well as the inside. Moreover, cooking chances its theme song. Whoever thinks that those dainty sandwiches, cakes, salads, ices, and cold meats appear by saying words to a lamp isn't related to the woman who has to get them up. I'm always amused at references to the "brief simple menus" of summer and pictures of mother reclining in a porch swing while the family passer her delectable foods, but whose every ounce she knows to a grain.

Summer Troubles!
The truth is that the good old summer time is a heck of an old summer time to too many women.

So here is a radical right-about-face idea of mine that strikes me as being quite beautiful. It takes courage and backbone to carry it out, so here's daring someone to try it.

Take up all the rugs and store them in the attic. If you haven't one, a good cellar will do. Next, have about half the furniture moved out and stacked up beside the rugs. Last take down every curtain and hanging except the ones that keep you from getting arrested, shake them out, fold up, and put in boxes beside the furniture. Empty rooms mean air and added coolness—not to speak of reduced cleaning and dusting.

If you happen to see an ad for cheap grass rugs you might throw one or two down. It is some help to self respect for the novice at this camping business.

MOTHER REARS 18—STILL WORKS ON FARM

Atlanta—(AP)—When all of her children and grandchildren are at home, one of Georgia's champion mountain woman is the mother of 18 children, including one set of triplets and three sets of twins. One daughter has three sets of twins, another two, and a third one set. The mother is now 67 years old and has 56 living grandchildren, the oldest 15.

The woman told Dr. Joe P. Bowdoin, deputy health commissioner, that she still goes "to the field to work" and says she "has certainly had a hard time."

Records at the state department of health show this north Georgia mountain woman is the mother of 18 children, including one set of triplets and three sets of twins.

The woman told Dr. Joe P. Bowdoin, deputy health commissioner, that she still goes "to the field to work" and says she "has certainly had a hard time."

Belated Romance Is Finally Consummated

Reno, Nevada, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Vivian Duncan, Little Eva of the Duncan Sisters stage team, and Nils Ascher, Swedish film star, were honeymooning today, their interrupted romance of three years culminating in their marriage yesterday.

Soon after the wedding in the Washoe county District Court house they left by automobile for an unannounced destination, reported, however, to be Lake Tahoe.

Attempts to keep the wedding secret failed. A license record in the County Clerk's office showed both gave ages of "over 21," neither had been married before.

The marriage was the culmination of a romance begun three years ago when they met in New York. Miss Duncan first announced their engagement in 1927. Several tentative dates had been set for the wedding, followed by postponements.

Miss Duncan recently was released from a Los Angeles hospital where she was treated for a black eye allegedly administered by Rex Lease, motion picture actor, who pleaded guilty to a battery charge and was fined $50.

Folkers-Rhoads Wedding Friday

Yesterday Raymond Rhoads and Miss Anna Marie Folkers, both of Dixon, were united in marriage at the Lutheran parsonage in Nachusa, by the Rev. H. Pscholz. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Onnon Folkers, living on a farm three miles north of Dixon. Mr. Rhoads, an apprentice sheet and metal worker, is with the firm of R. J. Slothower & Son of this city. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads, both young people worthy of high esteem, started happily on their short slight seeing trip to Niagara Falls and points east by motor car. During their two weeks' journey they plan to visit the father of Mr. Rhoads living in Lancaster, Pa., whom the young man has not seen since he came to Dixon five years ago. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads plan to live in Dixon where the good wishes of their friends and a cordial welcome awaits them.

Have You Heard?

Your gay sofa pillows made of washable fabrics and your dainty boudoir pillows can be laundered frequently, with little trouble. If you do not have to rip and sew them off and on your pillows each time.

There are various ways to simplify the rather tiresome job. You can make tiny buttonholes and use buttons to fasten on your sheer lacy boudoir pillows. You can use naps for your heavier pillows or you can have one end fasten with zipper closing.

FASHIONS

New York.—(UP)—The status of the black dress this season has been from the start of the promotion on off-blacks a question for discussion and quandary. How far will these deep dark shades encroach on the unique position of the black frock as the uniform daytime type for fall and winter?

Since the majority of the high style collections of costumes have now been revealed, there has been opportunity to check up on the status of black as regards daytime as well as formal fashions.

There is no question that for the semi-formal frock it is completely dominating. One may go so far as to say that it has very little competition, except in the new metals. Black velvets in long-skirted, graceful afternoon and dinner frocks—their name is legion; while chiffons, laces and nets add generously to this group in black.

With regard to the "little frock" for the luncheon hour which in recent seasons has been consistently produced by the smart and the unsart, chiefly in flat crepe, some wavering of allegiance is exhibited. This is partly accounted for in the greater number of woolen novelties introduced in daytime frocks, and again in the conservative effects in metals which are tailored to a dress-up daytime frock. It seems probable, however, that the fewer number of blacks is due to the temptation to include the later novelties rather than to any lack of belief in black dresses as a selling proposition.

Since many of the coat houses are figuring on doing 60 per cent of their business on black, it is hardly legitimate to believe that the black frock will not still be a standard favorite. Then, too, a significant fact is that those houses which cater to specialty shops with the most style conscious clientele include a black group, practically as large as ever, here and there is an effort to change the aspect of this popular type for this fall's wardrobe, so that it will not be confused with the flat crepe frock of last season.

New York.—Sportsman's cautious revival of velvet and velveteen serves a word of careful comment. The fact that their gradual influx is by ways of higher style channels is in itself interesting. These fabrics have doubly fresh appeal this season because they are one of the few exceptions to the prevalent informal fabrics in sportswear. As such, they may serve on the one hand as a welcome alternative to the costume of rough surfaced woolsens or contrast effectively when combined with a small patterned tweed. In the former role, one notes heavy milliner's velvet for the suit, or velvet printed with a design characteristic of sportswear for the frock. Then again, chiffon velvet may heighten a contrast, as when exploited in white to form the blouse of a small patterned tweed suit or the collar of a solid color cotton crepe frock.

It Must Have Been a Roaring Success

The barber may be up to scratch and the main idea may be cutting hair instead of cutting remarks. But it really looks like the customer is in for a close shave and the barber herself better take a tip and get out. It took sheer nerve to stage this hair-raising scene inside a lion's cage at Hove, England. One glance at the barber-ous appearing lion ought to be tonic enough. For all the locks aren't on the young woman's head—one is on the barred door of the cage!

Velveteen puts in an appearance in which for paletot types has no doubt been influential in causing its renewed engagement for fall. Yet so far, the velveteen jacket is preferred more simply in styling, as is particularly noted as a part of an ensemble. As such, it assumes a somewhat higher style value. Sponsored in solid color with a small patterned knitted or woven tweed dress that combines the jacket color with other harmonious tones, it also suggests to the individual the various jacket and dress combinations that she may form from the one ensemble.

The use of velveteen or velvet for trimming on sports frocks is especially noteworthy. One sees it in the bright or dark colors used especially for scarfs, collars, bow trimming at the neckline sometimes matching belts. In black or a rich brown on a lighter color dress it is particularly outstanding, lending a rich, yet youthful note to the costume, and, one might add, one to the woman who wears at times of the "lingerie touch."

The contest for selection of a "Miss America" and then "Miss Universe" opens officially tomorrow afternoon with a parade in sport clothes, in which more than forty girls are entered.

The forty, including 10 from foreign countries, will attend the beauty ball in Hotel Galvez Saturday night. Sunday the bathing suit parade, an event that draws thousands, will be staged in Menard Park. Sunday night the girls will appear in formal evening gowns.

Monday night Miss America will be named and Tuesday night she will compete with the foreign entries for the title of Miss Universe.

A FOURTH OF IT'S OURS.

The poet who said "It takes a heap of livin' in a house to make it home," forgot to mention another requirement. It also takes some money.

Willard K. Denton, president of the Metropolitan League of Savings and Loan Associations, is warning the young people of the land that they should not turn the house-in-which-they-live into the home-which-they-own, until they are ready to pay down at least 25 per cent of the cost in cash.

Nor should they buy a home whose cost is more than three times the sum of the family's annual income, he says.

The last statement is very easy to understand. No one should invest beyond his income. But the first is a little more puzzling. There are a great many families who own their homes, who might not have done so had they had to pay rent all the time that they were saving up for one-fourth down investment.

They experienced the keen pride of ownership and were able to plant rose bushes and turnips and onions on their own ground so much earlier than if they had waited. Because they had bought they wanted to save and hasten the moment of full possession. Otherwise they might have taken the money out of the bank and bought a better car or a radio while waiting for the sum to reach the required point.

Or somebody else might have bought the house they wanted.

Perhaps the logical answer is that if the desire for a home is strong enough the couple won't let anything interfere with the saving policy, and if it isn't they wouldn't keep the house anyway.

We willingly agree that it would be much more satisfactory to walk into a house, knowing that it was one-fourth yours, than just a fraction of a fourth.

A survey of the great volume of new books that make their appearance annually is apt to be a little bit discouraging. Many fine and notable books are produced, of course; but a great deal of the most popular fiction is mere trash, unfit for consideration by an adult mind.

However, there is a brighter side to it. Elliott B. Macrae points out that the classics also are selling hugely. Mr. Macrae remarks:

"New books are given at least 99 per cent of the publicity, of the advertising, of the sales promotion effort. Yet, in spite of all this we find that old Shakespeare and many of his friends go serenely along outselling 90 per cent of the new books year after year."

A New York book seller, he says, reports that the books most in demand are Shakespeare's "Tragedies," "David Copperfield," Shakespeare's "Comedies," "Don Quixote," Dostoevsky's "The Idiot" and Plato's "Republic," in the order named.

The general level of intelligence of the reading public isn't quite as low as the popular fiction might make one believe. There is still a big market for good stuff.

JESSE JAMES AND PAUL REVERE.

The grandson of Jesse James is arrested in Chicago for trying to get a blank checkbook from a bank where he did not have an account, and a descendant of Paul Revere is arrested for driving his automobile too rapidly along the road where his illustrious ancestor made his famous break-neck ride; and the conjunction of these two incidents is bound to set one to musing momentarily on the changes that time has brought.

Jesse James went out boldly, gun in hand, to take what he wanted. He at least risked his life to perform his robberies. His modern prototype, however, is more likely to do the job without risk, by forgery. And the lonely country road that Paul Revere galloped over is now a metropolitan highway so thickly traveled that riders must keep their speed down or endanger the lives of others.

What does it all prove? Oh, nothing, probably—except that neither Paul Revere nor Jesse James would recognize things if they came back to take a look around.

One way the government can save the $20,000 it spends each year for equipment in which to file income tax returns is, of course, to abolish income taxes.

One reason we're convinced the schoolboy will get it in the neck is the announcement that soap sales have increased the past year.

The 1930 tourist business is reported to be very dull in Europe. Which may mean that Americans are seeing America first at last.

The Detroit girl who jumped from an ocean liner and later apologized to her rescuers probably said, "Pardon my flat feet."

Men's neckties resembling silk are being made of rubber in France. The manufacturers won't miss the chance to advertise their styles as the very snappiest.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.)

"Oh, my," cried Clowny. "We look fine. I think the best shoeshine's on mine. Just look at how they glisten when they're in the bright sunlight. It seems these shiners do not shrink. They sure know how to do their work. Their motto is, when doing things be sure and do them right."

"And that's a gandy motto, too," replied the Travel Man, "and you should all be governed by that thought whenever a task is done. When people do things incorrect, no good reward can they expect, but when you do things right, at least it is a lot of fun."

The boys then paid the shoeshine man and they were on their way again. "Let's climb up on a towering wall," exclaimed the Travel Man. "I know the very place to go, to gaze down on the town below." He pointed to a winding path and off the Tiniemites ran.

"Hey! Wait for me! Don't run so fast. At that quick pace I'd never last," exclaimed the robust Travel Man. The Tiniemites laughed aloud. "Oh, we're just full of pep today. That's why we hastened on our way," replied one of the Tiniemites. "We're a very lively crowd."

But anyway, they stopped their race and all fell in the same slow pace. Soon Carpy said, "Well, mercy me, who is that girl ahead. She has a velvet jacket. Gee, her costume looks real nice to me." The Travel Man just smiled. "Why, she's a vegetable girl," he said.

"That's how all of those girls are dressed. It seems that here, folks think the best of vegetables is cauliflower. That's what she's selling, see? Each morning she starts out to roam and makes a trip from home to home. Folks buy the cauliflowers and cook them, tasty as can be." (The Tiniemites see a peculiar type of smoking pipe in the next story.)

the car skidded and he was instantly killed. Not all hours are as important perhaps as this one, but there is no way of knowing just how momentous the present hour or the one before us may be.

We waste too many of them here in America where so many of us have so much leisure time.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

HARDING'S DEATH

On August 2, 1923, President Warren G. Harding died suddenly at a hotel in San Francisco. He had set out on a tour across the United States and Alaska in an effort to reassure the farmers and reawaken enthusiasm for the administration, and it was on his trip back from Alaska that he became ill.

The graveness of his illness became apparent when he addressed the Seattle Press Club only a few days before his death. A writer who covered the event wrote:

"When the president appeared before the Seattle Press Club... his address was in the nature of a valedictory, in the sense that it marked the president's farewell appearance in public for an indefinite period. So the people of the country may as well make up their minds that they will hear little and see nothing of President Harding for several months."

The death of the nation's chief executive was announced in these words: "The president died instantaneously without warning and while conversing with members of his family at 7:30 p. m. Death was apparently due to some brain involvement probably an apoplexy."

W. W. Canfield, editor of the Utica, New York, Observer-Dispatch, says: "That an hour is a most important part of time. Here is an incident to prove it. A man in moderate circumstances had an accident insurance policy for $10,000, payable to his wife and children in case of his death by accident. He was billed for his dues on a certain day, two days before the policy would lapse if the dues were not paid. He was short of money that day and neglected to pay it. The next day—the day upon which the policy would lapse at noon—he paid the money just one hour before the policy lapsed. He got in his car to drive to the camp where his wife was staying and on the way

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

St. Louis Star's Comment On Report

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1—(UP)—Chicago journalism did not receive a clean bill of health in the Cook county grand jury's report on Harry T. Brundage's racketeering charges, the St. Louis Star, Brundage's employer, said today in an editorial.

Commenting upon the report which said the grand jurors were unable to "substantiate the evidence disclosed by the (Brundage's) testimony," the Star said:

"The outstanding feature of the report is that Chicago journalism, or that portion of it brought into question, did not receive a clean bill of health. The only newspaperman praised by the grand jury was Brundage himself, who, accused for weeks by Chicago newspapers of acting in bad faith, was declared by the jury to have acted in good faith."

"The fact is that Mr. Brundage's articles in the Star did not charge anything of an incriminating nature against Chicago newspaper racketeers. They were charged with betrayal of trust, with perfidy to the public and to any newspaper trying to serve the public."

"It is a crime for public officials to accept protection money from gangsters or to take a 'cut' in their illegal profits. It is not criminal for newspaper men to do so. Rather it is worse than criminal, for it paralyzes the most effective agency through which crime can be fought."

LEAPS TO HER DEATH

HACK WILSON REAL FAVORITE OF THE LADIES

Chicago Cubs Most Popular Team In Leagues With Fair Fans

By DIXON STUART
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chicago, Aug. 2.—(UP)—"Ladies Day" at Cubs Park may be a great social event for the women of Chicago, but it is a nightmare to Bill Veeck, President of the Cubs.

Veeck originated the Ladies' Day plan some 10 years ago as a business building idea, but like so many other brilliant innovations it has developed into a Frankenstein monster and at present it is a big problem for Veeck than all his other duties.

"Ladies Day is more than a success," Veeck told the United Press today, "but it certainly has doubled the work in my office and you can blame it for most of these grey hairs."

"When we started out 10 years ago we had to run full page advertisements in the newspapers to get the women to the park. Now the big problem is how to take care of all the women that want to take advantage of our invitation. We had more than 40,000 requests for tickets to yesterday's game and we already have enough requests on hand to take all of the 17,500 tickets allotted for next Friday's game."

More Clerks Needed
"I had to add a staff of a dozen clerks to take care of the Ladies Day pass requests."

"If it wasn't for the fact that I can go out to the games on Friday and see the women enjoy themselves it wouldn't be worth the trouble."

"However, every time I get sick of it all, I go to the game and see the women—school girls, grandmothers, working women, and society matrons—enjoying themselves. That makes up for everything and makes it all seem worth while."

"This age of women in sport, and the women of Chicago have become real baseball fans. On a trip through the stands is enough to convince anyone that they know the difference between the umpire and the bat boy and our paid attendance figures show that the Ladies Day idea is a real-business builder. The women aren't content to watch the free games. They make their husbands and sweethearts bring them on other days and as a result the Cubs lead the league in paid attendance figures."

Wilson Favorite
"I don't know just why our Ladies Day are so popular when the women show so little interest in attending the games if it were not for New York and St. Louis, or right here in Chicago at Sox Park. I used to think it was because our ball players were better looking, but it doesn't take long to convince anyone that Hack Wilson is the real favorite with the ladies and you certainly couldn't accuse Hack of being an Apollo or a Valentino."

Veeck's Ladies Day troubles are the baseball sensation of the year. Ladies Day has become an acute problem. On one occasion more than 40,000 women jammed their way into Wrigley Field, trampling ticket takers, ushers, and mere males who were anxious to pay way into the game.

Veeck endeavored to solve the problem by requiring the women to write to the Cubs office requesting tickets and issuing passes to the first 17,500 applicants. His method has more than doubled the clerical work at the Cubs' office and Veeck has an even greater problem than before.

The women are real fans and it is a common sight to see them, flappers, matrons and grandmothers, scrambling for foul balls with all the enthusiasm of young boys.

The "Ladies Days" work a hardship on mere males who are turned away when they desire to buy tickets for Friday games, but they also produce "color" and entertainment for the male fans lucky enough to get into the park.

With Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig going like a conflagration, the New York Yankees are looking more and more like the real threat to the supremacy of the Philadelphia Athletics in the American League pennant struggle.

The A's still have a commanding lead, eight games ahead of Washington and nine ahead of the Yankees despite the loss of a half game to the New Yorkers through their idleness yesterday, but 51 games remain for each team, and a lot can happen in that number of contests.

It can happen especially when the Yankee slugging duo is hitting the high notes, and Ruth and Gehrig have been doing just that in the past few days. The Babe clouted two home runs yesterday after a lapse of over a week. They served to win a ball game from the Boston Red Sox, providing three of the Yankee runs in a 4 to 1 victory. They also put the Babe 16 days and 12 games ahead of his record pace of 1927 when he reached his present total of 38 on August 17 in the 115th game of the season.

The Yankees could not, however, gain on the teams that are pursuing them. Cleveland, in fourth place and Detroit, in fifth, each won a game, and held their places. The Indians got the jump on the St. Louis Browns by nipping Holland Slides for two runs in the first inning and held their margin to win, 6 to 3. Detroit hammered Dutch Henry around to inflict on him his 15th defeat of the year as Earl Whitehill held Chicago in check. The score was 12 to 4, with the Tigers' 17 hits turning the trick.

The National League race went along without a change except that the Pittsburgh Pirates, after a brief day in a tie for fourth place, were sent back to the second division. The Pirates went down before the Chicago Cubs, 10 to 7, despite a game rally in the middle of the game. Chicago started with four runs off Heinie Meine in the first inning then made a strong finish to regain their margin after they had lost it.

The St. Louis Cardinals again became the only club in fourth place by trouncing the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 1.

With Wild Bill Hallahan hurling a four hit game, the Cards did not need all the hits they made as they came suddenly out of a batting slump to the tune of 13 blows. Cincinnati, which has the leagues best fielding average, had an off day and made four errors.

Brooklyn held its two game margin over the Cubs by slamming the Phillies for 15 hits and a 9 to 4 victory.

The New York Giants swatted the Boston Braves for a 10 to 4 triumph, their fifth straight.

What Averages of Big Leaguers Show this Week-end

NATIONAL LEAGUE
New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Chuck Klein of the Phillies finally has taken a fairly firm hold on the batting leadership of the National League. Klein, leader a week ago by a slim margin, has kept on climbing and in the averages released today, which include Wednesday's games, has a margin of five points over his team mate, Frank O'Doul. Klein's average is .408, O'Doul's .403.

The Philadelphia youngster has held first place in scoring, hits and runs batted in and to this he has added a tie for the lead in hitting doubles. Klein has scored 103 runs, has hit safely 161 times and has batted in 110 tallies. His total of 33 two-baggers gives him a tie for the lead with O'Doul and Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn.

Adam Comorosky, of Pittsburgh, leads in triples with 14. Hack Wilson, of Chicago in home runs with 33, and Kiki Cuyler of Chicago in stolen bases with 27, completing the somewhat scanty list of slugging leaders who have been able to outdistance Klein. The Philadelphia also figures in the second place roster with 29 home runs.

Bill Terry, New York, is third on the list of leaders in batting with an average of .394. Other regulars in this select group are Herman, Brooklyn, .390; Stephenson, Chicago, .389; Heilmann, Cincinnati, .366; P. Waner, Pittsburgh, .359; Ott, New York, .356; Cuyler, Chicago, .355; and Grantham, Pittsburgh, .355.

The club batting leadership re-

Washington, .357; Porter, Cleveland, .356.

Edwin Wells, Yankee southpaw still was the nominal leader of the pitchers, with eight victories and two defeats, representing no change over last week, but Bob Grove, the Athletics' fire-baller, had 15 victories and four defeats, while Fred Marberry, of Washington had 12 victories and four setbacks. Grove was ousted from the strike-out leadership by George Earnshaw, his teammate, who fanned 11 men in two games to bring his collection to 126, one better than Grove's mark.

The Yankees lost three points from their team batting average, but were still at the top of the heap with .313. Cleveland remained the same at .307 to retain second place, while Washington added a point to hold third place at .301. Philadelphia fielded at the same gait as last week, .274, and held the lead, with Washington still second at .272. Cleveland clicked off 10 double plays to make it 112 for the season and widen its margin over Detroit which had 106.

VINES' DEFEAT MAY PROVE REAL BLESSING TO HIM

Sensational Western Tennis Star Likely To Develope Better

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer.
New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The cockiest member of the new crop of young American tennis players is Sydney B. Wood of New York, the surprise conqueror of Elsworth Vines of Pasadena, Calif., in straight sets at Fairbairn, N. J., yesterday.

Dailey, incidentally, was one of the few to pick Wood to stop the sensational Vines, who has been players as Frank Hunter, Frank Shields and Dick Williams. The general head of the U. S. L. T. A., in fact, believes Vines' defeat may turn out to be a blessing in disguise.

"If Vines is unspooled by premature praise," he said, "I believe he will go far."

"Vines at this time is an in-and-out. Also it must be remembered that a good showing in the Metropolitan Turf court and the Seabright Invitation do not make a champion. The most important thing is to allow him to develop in his own way and I shall endeavor to see that he has a chance to do so."

Bryant Grant, the little Atlanta youth who became one of the current tennis sensations by winning the National Clay Court title recently, does not seem to Dailey to quite so good a prospect.

Dailey said he had not seen enough of the playing of Cliff Sutter, the new intercollegiate champion from New Orleans, to express an opinion concerning his potentialities.

Grant, Wood and perhaps Vines are expected to be among the entrants in the annual invitation tournament at Southampton, N. Y., next week. The Davis Cup players, who sailed Wednesday from Europe, are scheduled to land on Tuesday but are not likely to play at Southampton, as they need a rest.

Player Starts Suit Against An Umpire

Los Angeles, Aug. 2.—(AP)—"Buz" Arlett, Oakland outfielder, has expressed his determination to collect if possible $10,000 to assuage the pain suffered from the lousy wallop of a mask-swinging umpire.

Arlett last night announced he had instructed his attorney to bring suit against the Coast League for that sum.

The pain, however, Arlett indicated was financial rather than physical. During an argument over a decision in a recent game Umpire Chas Chabourne struck the outfielder over the head with a mask. The decision of President Harry Williams, upholding Chabourne, against Arlett broke up a deal whereby the player would have been sent to the Brooklyn club of the National League.

The damage will be sought, the player said, because of failure of the deal.

KAMM AND FABER LOSE PLACES ON CHI. WHITE SOX

Will Probably Be Used
In Trades To Add
Power To Team

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(UP)—Urban (Red) Faber, veteran pitcher, and Willie Kamm, erstwhile $100,000 beauty have lost their places on the Chicago White Sox squad because of failure to show the "fight" and "hustle" demanded by Manager Donie Bush.

Although the Sox management, through Secretary Harry Grabiner, denied that the two players had disagreed with Manager Bush, it was generally believed that the veterans had clashed with Bush regarding managerial methods and playing conditions and were slated for transfer.

Kamm's trouble with the Sox is said to have had its inception in Bush's order removing him from the cmfwp cmfwp cmfwp cmfwpmm captaincy. Kamm showed little interest in his work after his demotion and was removed from the regular lineup on June 9 for failure to "hustle." Since that time he has been used only as a pinch hitter and it is believed that Bush is ready to trade the infielder to another club.

Faber has had a difficult time rubber throughout the world is about 7,000,000 acres. If this area were stretched in an even band about the equator, it would be nearly half a mile wide.

Collegians To Play Reynolds Tomorrow

The Reynolds Wire Company baseball team are going to try and send the Elburn Collegians organization back to college to learn more baseball when the two teams meet at the Independent field Sunday afternoon at 2:30. In the last four years of playing the best semi-pro teams of Chicago and the midwest, the Collegians have established a record of 82 victories and 18 losses. Norton and Sharp the mainstay pitchers have averaged 12 strikeouts for each game.

The Collegians will present the following line-up in tomorrow afternoon's game here: Sharp, pitcher, Tulane university; Norton, pitcher, Cornell university; Johnson, shortstop, Illinois; Kahl, catch, Purdue; Westlake, Lakin, Chell and Weston, outfielders, DeKalb State Normal school; Johns, third base, Denver; White, first base, Kentucky; Corrigan, second base, DePaul; Hayes, catch, Blackburn college.

A large delegation of followers from Elburn and vicinity will accompany the Collegians to Dixon.

The total acreage now planted to rubber throughout the world is about 7,000,000 acres. If this area were stretched in an even band about the equator, it would be nearly half a mile wide.

Go to Church

Weekly Sermonette

BY A. TURLEY STEPHENSON, PASTOR FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

The Church as an institution is well nigh two thousand years old, but its merit lies not in its antiquity.

What contribution then is it making to society that proves its worth? No one can adequately answer this question. There are values that can not be interpreted by statistics. Virtue, music, motherhood, God, these are terms the values of which elude figures. Similarly the church.

There are some observations concerning the value of the Church to life, however, that are perfectly safe. In the first place it has an economic worth. It is the conservator and stabilizer of commercial values. What parents would think of building a home and rearing a family in a community in which there were no churches and by this fact deny themselves and their children the benefit of Christian influence and religious training?

It was good business acumen on the part of a certain real estate firm when opening up a new subdivision for residence purposes to offer to a certain denomination a lot and a generous cash contribution if it would come out into that sub-division and erect a church and begin operations.

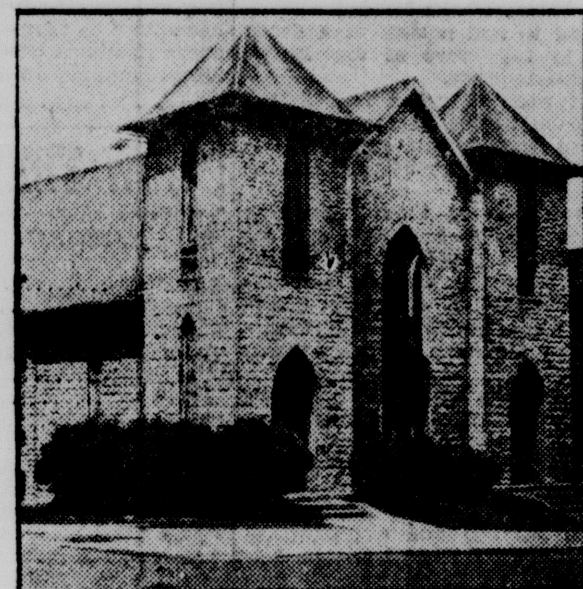

All of this is true because the Church has a moral and spiritual worth. The neglect of the church is the neglect of the best interests of all society.

Theodore Roosevelt, a Christian and a church-going man, expressed his conviction in regard to the church as follows: "In this actual world, a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down-grade."

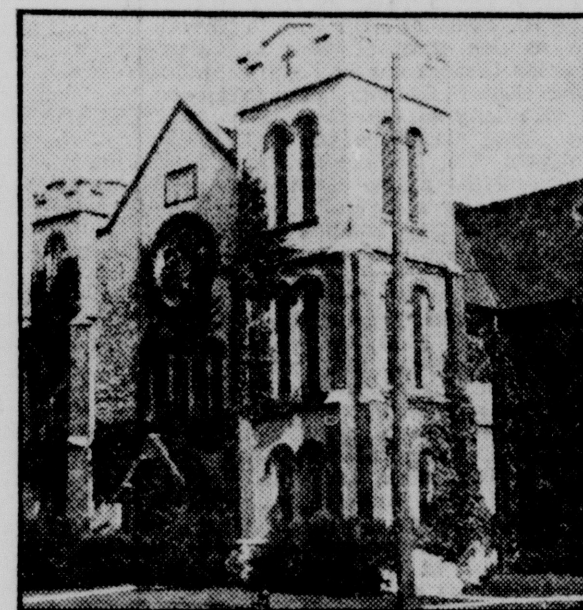

The Christian Church is an institution not to be maintained for the sake of a tradition, but for the sake of the best interests of all life.

Had a Good Time
The Star class of the Brethren Sunday school enjoyed a picnic at Wellers Woods Friday for their annual educational and pleasure trip. They first went to the James Lincoln home and saw an old fashioned well with an old oaken bucket. The class certainly enjoyed this outdoor.

The boys then left for Wellers' woods where they had much fun in swimming and after that a big dinner with fried chicken as the main dish. From the Woods they went to the Pines, a state park, and from there to Castle Rock, where they enjoyed a watermelon which they carried to the top of Castle Rock, from Castle Rock home. Everyone of the boys agreed that they had a good time. The class consisting of 140, was accompanied by their teacher, Ira Buck and Guy Willard and Bailey Breeze.

Practically all his life was lived in this town where he answered the final summons.

In September, 1892, he was married to Miss Mary Maronde. One son was born to this union who with the widow and three grandchildren survive. Mr. Watson was a good man, a neighbor.

Included in the program of old favorites will be such numbers as "The Rose of Sharon," "I Want My Life to Tell," "Jerusalem Morning," "Kentucky Babe," and other negro spirituals.

A special feature of the concert will be a group of songs centered about a lighted cross, representative of Calvary. Vocal and saxophone solos will also be offered. A free offering will be taken.

Augustburg Confession
It can not be truthfully said that ideal weather conditions prevail at Dixon held by a number of Lutheran congregation within a radius of thirty or more miles from here on the camp ground Sunday afternoon. Nevertheless, in spite of the intense heat, the auditorium was nearly filled when the service opened. At this service Rev. A. P. Meyer of Stockton spoke on "The Message of the Augsburg Confession," basing his remarks on I Cor. 16:13. The gist of this wonderful message was I Stand Fast. But do not Stand Still. He spoke for forty minutes. It was an inspiration to have been there, for one could not help but realize at what Lutheran forefathers secured for us that Christian liberty, where with Christ hath made us free.

The Vested Choir of the Ashton church rendered three appropriate selections.

SOME ASPECTS OF DEAFNESS
By Vance P. Peery, M. D.,
Kinston, N. C.

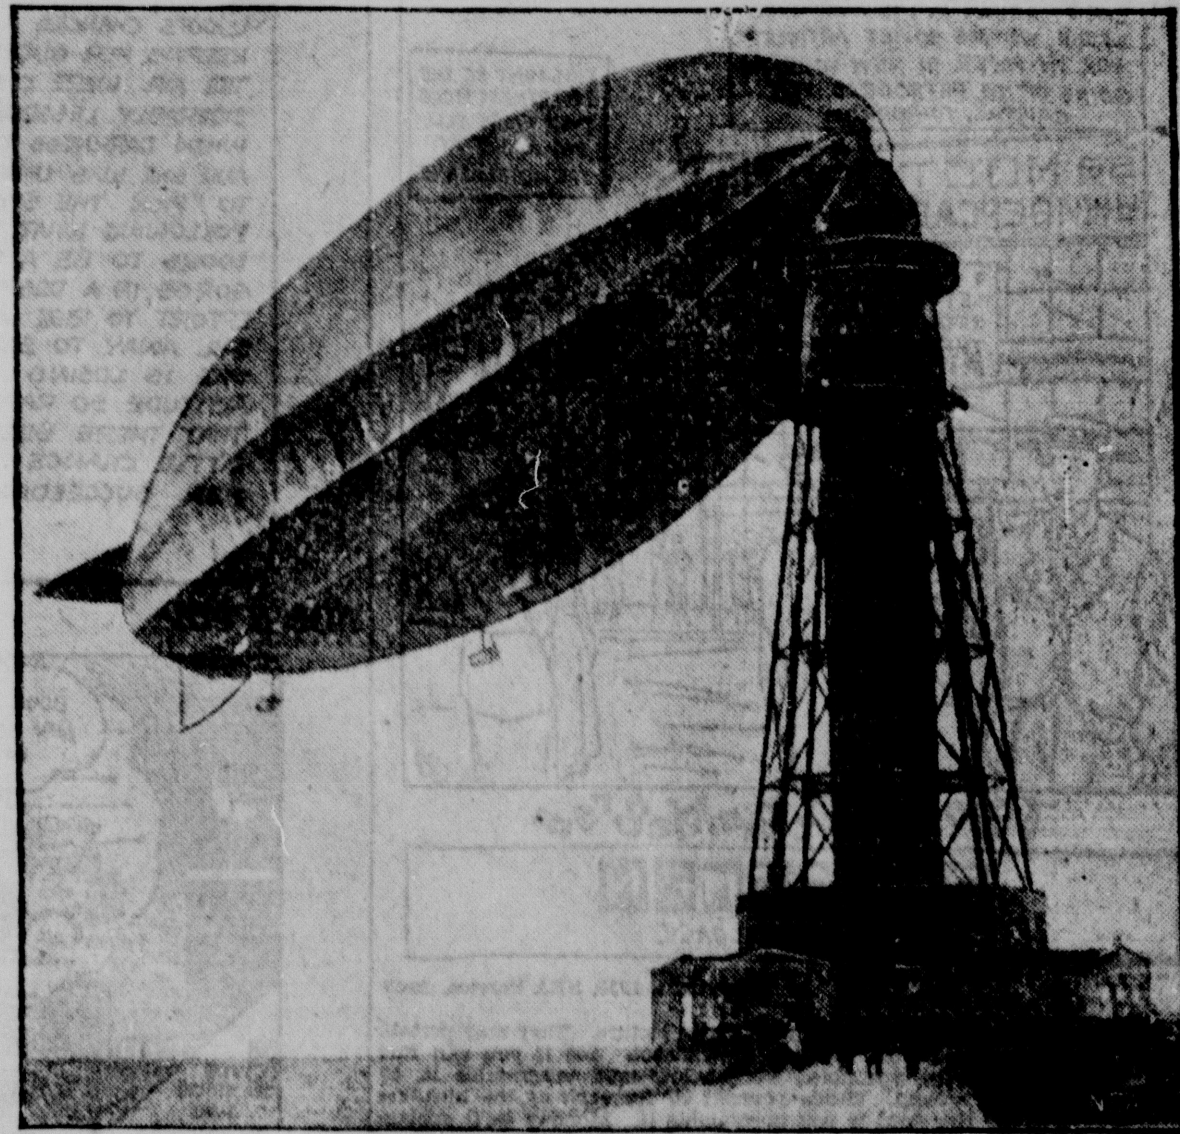

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

It is a reliable estimate which states that in American Schools there are today about three million partially deaf children.

The American Federation of Leagues for the Hard of Hearing, the national medical associations, and competent ear specialists, realize that one of the big problems in preventing deafness in adults is the discovery of any defects of hearing, minor or otherwise, in early life. A child with the beginning of a series of ear trouble may not complain or give pronounced evidence of such trouble or of any defect in hearing until it has become well established, thereby losing much time in treatment, with resultant permanent damage to the hearing organs.

School inspections by health officers, nurses, etc., discover a great many cases which have failed to arouse suspicion even in the closest daily association with family and teacher. Without a special instrument it would be a very big and a very tedious task for two or three doctors to examine thoroughly the ears of all the children in even a moderately large school. Such an instrument, permits the detection of even minor losses of hearing in

PLEASING CONCERT

The music was of standard variety, well rendered, and enthusiastically received; although, for a change, no encores were provided. The personnel of the group was: Mrs. Mary Evelyn Hoeftin Gunn, accompanist and soprano soloist, and Prof. Geo. Gunn, bass, both of Eureka; John Hale, first tenor, Springfield; Rex Hogan, second tenor, Springfield; John Cyrus, first bass, Watseka.

The quartet came to Dixon from Monmouth, and from here went to Rock Falls. Delegations came from

The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc.

by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAN RORIMER, former New York newspaper man, who is now writing scenarios for Continental Pictures in Hollywood, gets a letter from Ziggy Young, an old friend in New York, telling him to look up a girl named ANNE WINTER, who had come from Tulsa, Okla., to "crash the pictures."

Dan completes reluctantly, as he is distrustful of Ziggy, but Anne proves to be charming. She has had stage experience—in stock companies, which Dan tells her is the best foundation for an extra to have. Anne agrees that she is a little disconcerted with things at Continental.

Rorimer tells Anne about some of the discouraging phases of extra work, but he really believes she will "make the grade," and he thus assures her. The following Monday rehearsal begins on his picture, an adaptation of a story he had written. That evening he learns that Anne is to work the following morning, working the second time she has found extra employment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER V
"YOU do?" said Dan. "That's swell! Tell me all about it."

"I'm to report," Anne Winter said, "at Grand United at nine tomorrow morning."

"Nothing but the biggest and best for you, eh? Do you feel like celebrating? I'll be tied up at the Wampas dinner until nine, but—"

"No thank you. Nine o'clock with makeup on. That means Anne Winter goes to bed at 10 at the very latest." She added that it took her nearly two hours to put on a movie makeup.

"Well," said Rorimer, "you might let me call for you in the morning. I have to be at the studio at nine myself, and the Grand United lot is right on the way."

Anne assented and thanked him. "If you're sure it won't be any trouble."

"Not at all—see you at 8:30. . . . Goodbye."

He hung up the receiver and began to get ready for dinner.

Paul Collier came up to the room soon afterward, bringing with him Jim Donnelly, a publicity man at Continental Pictures.

Collier loudly demanded a drink. "Or no dinner for you, Rorimer. You're being honored tonight; Wampas is particular."

"And exclusive," Donnelly added. "How are you, Rorimer? I understand we're starting production on your story."

Collier said, "Some day you'll have to get Jim Donnelly to give you some of his recipes. Dan, the kid's good. . . . Tell him about that one, Jim, with the tea in it—and the elder cocktail."

"I don't like elder," said Dan. "Did you ever mix it with gin and bitters?" Collier wanted to know. "By the way, did you get in touch with Ziggy's friend?"

"I'll say I did," Dan said. "Well, what was she like?" "She's the sweetest girl I ever met. And that goes," he added. Collier sat up straight. One hand shot up to his black, sleek head as if he had been shot. "Well, I'll be hanged!" he ejaculated. "You wouldn't kid me," he added, searching Dan's face with suddenly curious eyes.

He turned to Donnelly and said, "Get the fill-in on this, Jim. This guy Ziggy Young, back in New York, is the biggest practical joker that ever lived. I mean he really is. . . . Isn't that right, Dan?"

RORIMER smiled. "Just about," he said. "Just as an illustration," said Collier, "when Dan was on his way out."

"But there's no way of stopping a person from trying to get into the movies."

here, Ziggy wires me a full description of him, explaining who and what he is, and tells me to get a cop and go down and meet his train and arrest him. Just to humor him, I went down. I didn't have time to look up a cop with a sense of humor, so I got hold of Johnny Riddle and the two of us pulled the fake pinch. . . . But Rorimer knew right away that Ziggy was at the bottom of it."

"At Toledo," Rorimer said. "Ziggy wired me that he had a hangerover and asked me to take an aspirin for him."

Jim Donnelly stood up. "I gather," he said, "that Dan looked up a girl friend of Ziggy's with fear and trembling—"

"And with maledictions on Ziggy's head," Collier put in. "—and was disappointed because she wasn't what he had expected."

"Is she really that good, Dan?" Collier inquired. "You're not going back on that little O'Neil gal I introduced to you, are you? . . . What a blond she—"

"She's an absolute knockout," said Dan, "and that settles it."

Collier said, "Hollywood's full of knockouts."

"Yeah? But I noticed you went over to Long Beach Saturday night."

Collier said, with assumed dignity, that that was strictly his own affair.

"Affair is good," said Donnelly. "Come on; we'll keep dinner waiting."

After dinner a quorum adjourned to someone's apartment for a poker game. Rorimer, who had ceased caring for the game, and Collier went for a walk. They walked out Hollywood boulevard toward Vine street. The rain had stopped by late afternoon, and there was a moon, but the night was chilly—cold enough for top coats.

Collier kept up an inconsequential chatter for a while, but Rorimer's responses were monosyllables, and presently Paul fell silent and they walked slowly together, each busy with his own thoughts.

It was some time before either of them spoke again. Collier, stopping short, said they had gone far enough and ought to turn back. And anyway, if they did take a steady job some place, they wouldn't have a chance to work as extras.

"I sometimes wonder what it would be like if some giant hand could scoop up all the people connected with the motion picture industry, from the highest down to the lowest, and throw them into a giant hopper and have them come out of the little end as one composite person. . . . Know what I mean?"

Rorimer nodded thoughtfully. "Sort of a least common denominator of Hollywood?"

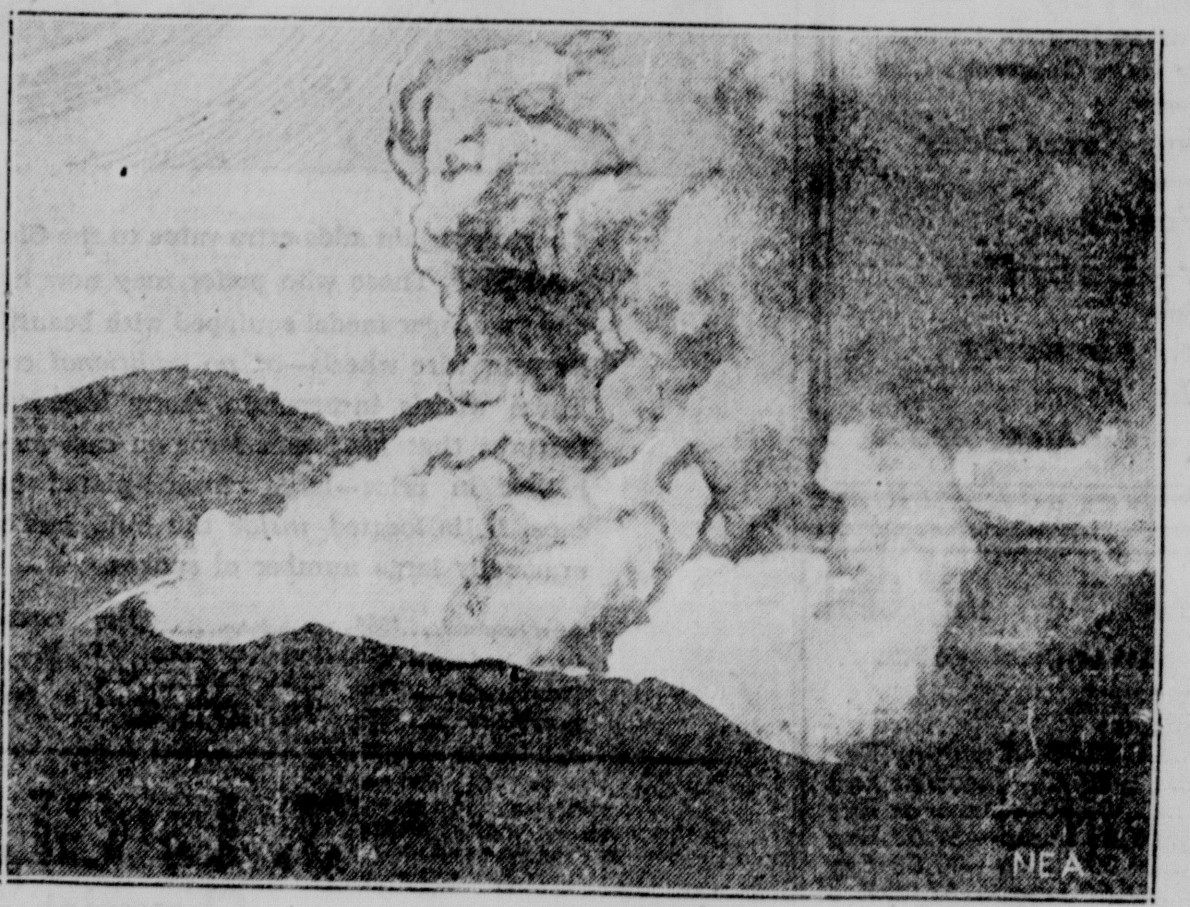

"That's it. And, man, what a story that person would have to tell!"

"You'll never get it," said Rorimer.

"I know it; but I can continue to think about it. . . . Here's Henry's; let's go in. I could do with a slab of that egg nog pie."

Vesuvius Threatens to Add to Horror

Fears that Vesuvius, world's most famous volcano, may begin another disastrous eruption and add to the horror caused by Italy's most recent earthquake are being throughout that nation. The picture above shows a lava down the mountainside to engulf villages below.

American production of macaroni is reducing importations from Italy 1,000,000 pounds a year, and our exports are six times the imports.

much as the next one, but I don't know what's really going on."

"Where is this story of yours—in those mountains over there?" Rorimer asked.

"I'm not kidding; I'm serious. The story's not complete without the extras. Think of the thousands of them—men and women of all ages and descriptions—hanging on and waiting and hoping that by the grace of God lightning will strike them somehow and they'll get a break that will bring them fame. It's pathetic, you know it? It's a damn sight worse than that; it's almost unbelievably tragic."

"I know it," said Rorimer. "But once in a while one of them crashes through," he added, thinking of Anne Winter.

"And for every one that does, think of the hundreds that can't hope for anything better than an occasional day's work at seven and a half to $10!"

Rorimer said, "Well, they can't say they weren't forewarned; nobody holds out any hopes of stardom to them."

"Yes, but this thing called Hollywood has a glamour about it that's as irresistible to them as a snake's eyes for a fascinated bird. The ranks are overcrowded, but still they come—and will continue to come. The producers' association does what it can to keep out the unfit, and it warns them all what to expect—but there's no way of stopping a person from trying to get into the movies. And when they do get in front of a camera, what are they? Just atmosphere—a by-product."

Collier flipped away his cigaret, continued: "What are their emotions? What do they think about? The stars—the big figures of Hollywood—we all know about. Everybody knows about them. But the extras who provide the atmosphere for the industry—who knows about them? True, they're listed at Central Casting, and they've got men up there who can remember what a girl looks like when her name is announced over the phone. But they're just names and types—a fat man with a bald head; a slender blond who can wear sport clothes."

"How do they live? Before I came out here a year and a half ago, I subscribed to the popular notion that the restaurants and barber shops would be full of waitresses and manicures who came out here to crash the movies. It isn't true; Dick Charles says he's known only a few in all his experience. And anyway, if they did take a steady job some place, they wouldn't have a chance to work as extras."

"I sometimes wonder what it would be like if some giant hand could scoop up all the people connected with the motion picture industry, from the highest down to the lowest, and throw them into a giant hopper and have them come out of the little end as one composite person. . . . Know what I mean?"

Rorimer nodded thoughtfully. "Sort of a least common denominator of Hollywood?"

"That's it. And, man, what a story that person would have to tell!"

"You'll never get it," said Rorimer.

"I know it; but I can continue to think about it. . . . Here's Henry's; let's go in. I could do with a slab of that egg nog pie."

Hijacking Of Farm Produce Reported

Carlisle, Ind., Aug. 2.—(UP)—Aid of state police has been obtained by the trucking firms which haul tomatoes, cantaloupes and melons from the Knox county fields, north into Sullivan county, in a drive to break up a band of hi-jackers.

The activities of the band were reported after forty six baskets of tomatoes were stolen from a truck owned by Clarence Deem. He said that while he was driving north of here a small sedan, with lights dimmed, ran along behind him for some distance. He expressed the belief that one man climbed from the car onto the back of his truck and handed back the baskets of vegetables.

Other farmers and truckers have reported similar incidents.

New Moose Leader is Welfare Head

Rodney H. Brandon, unanimously elected supreme dictator of great fraternity, regarded as authority on social problems of children and aged.

Rodney H. Brandon, new supreme dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, is regarded as one of the leading sociologists and an authority on social welfare in the United States. Unanimously elected to the office at the fraternity's annual convention at Moosehart, Illinois on July 3 the position will be fully in line with his office as Illinois state director of public welfare which he has held for the last two years.

The new fraternal honor also takes recognition of years of service in the cause of childhood and dependent old age through the Moose services of Moosehart the Order's child city and Moosehaven, Florida, the fraternity's home for the aged.

Mr. Brandon's career has been an interesting one. Born in a log cabin in Monroe county, Indiana, September 21, 1881, he is a typical Hoosier. He comes from a long line of those pioneer ancestors who made history when the West was young.

When he was nine his parents moved from the homestead cabin on the site of the famous Harmony settlement to Bloomington. Finishing high school there, Mr. Brandon attended Indiana University for three years and then became clerk and auditor for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York. In 1903 he went to Anderson, Indiana, where he was reporter, city editor and make-up man for the Herald.

While there he became acquainted with James J. Davis, and in 1907 he resigned from the Herald to join Mr. Davis in the development of the Loyal Order of Moose, which at that time was hardly more than a struggling handful of discouraged fraternalists. But the courage and youthful enthusiasm of Davis inspired young Brandon, and they set to work. The organization grew rapidly and soon was ready for the great undertaking of Mooseheart.

Those were perilous times for the Order, but Mooseheart took form and grew. Mr. Brandon became the executive Secretary of the Order, supervised the construction of Mooseheart in 1913, was made secretary of the Mooseheart Governors; and in 1917, the honor of Past Supreme Dictator was conferred upon him. Mr. Brandon with other Moose leaders assisted Mr. Davis in establishing the home for aged and infirm members at Moosehaven in Florida, in 1922, and he was elected Grand Regent of Mooseheart Legion, the highest degree of the Moose, which has Moosehaven as its mission.

Among other posts of honor that Mr. Brandon has filled are the following: Organizer of Progressive party in Indiana, 1912; delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention in 1919; chairman of its committee on education, and editor of the Convention Proceedings.

He was engaged in social welfare work for twenty years, and it was only natural he should be selected by the Federal Government to visit France and England in 1926 to study methods there of caring for dependent children and aged persons. He also was designated as American delegate to the Pan-American Welfare Congress, meeting in Havana in December, 1928. His analysis of the causes of crime in the United States was regarded by Clarence Darrow as the most common-sense plan for correcting criminality in youth.

Early in 1928 Mr. Brandon assumed the management of the campaign of the Hon. Louis L. Emmerson for Governor of Illinois, and after managing the primary he was elected Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee. His activities in the recent national election are so well known that it is unnecessary to recount them here.

On January 22, 1929, the newly elected Governor Emerson appointed Mr. Brandon Director of Public Welfare of the State of Illinois. This important office (which he will hold for four years) "is charged with the administration of all charitable and penal institutions in the state, such administration including the provision of humane and scientific treatment and care of our unfortunates, the education so far as is possible of such dependents and the study of the causes of such dependency and delinquency and mental, moral and physical defects with a view to cure and ultimate prevention. In addition the department investigates and reports fully to the State Executive on all applications for pardons or commutations of sentence."

Mr. Brandon is a Republican, a member of the Disciples of Christ, and a Mason. He is affiliated with the Sons of the American Revolution, the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, and the Knights of Pythias. He is lieutenant governor of Kiwanis and a member of the Hamilton and Press clubs of Chicago. Furthermore, he is Vice-president of the American Insurance Union of Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Brandon takes a wide interest in civic affairs, particularly in beautifying the Fox River in Illinois where he lives. His permanent home is in Batavia. At present he and his family reside in Springfield, Illinois.

Mr. Brandon is married and has two daughters. His hobby is raising sheep and turkeys.

WISCONSIN HAS INCOME FROM RESEARCH DATA

Alumni Foundation Commercializes Discoveries of University

Madison, Wis. —(UP)— Commercializing the results of research and turning the profits to further investigations is an important task at the University of Wisconsin.

Harry L. Russell, dean of the college of agriculture for 23 years, recently resigned to head the Wisconsin Alumni Research foundation in charge of this work.

Management of the process of food irradiation with ultra violet rays for production of vitamin D, perfected by Dr. Harry Steenbock, is one of the jobs of the foundation.

Its whole program is three-fold. The foundation promotes and develops to a commercial stage the discoveries and inventions of faculty, alumni, or others who surrender their patents to it. Licenses are granted by it to commercial concerns who can make use of these inventions, royalties on which are paid to the foundation. These royalties, in turn, are devoted to further research.

While the Steenbock process, through its application to breakfast foods and other edibles, perhaps is the most generally known of the foundation's works, this group also controls patents on use of copper and iron salts in treating anemia developed by Prof. E. B. Hart; the discoveries of Dr. F. L. Hisaw relating to the pituitary gland and the role of hormones in reproduction; discovery of Dr. E. O. Wigg, now of Akron, Ohio, for use of acetone acid as a living agent in baking powder; a method of producing acetone acid originated by Dr. Tetrault, now of Purdue university; and discoveries of Dr. E. B. Fred and Prof. W. A. Peterson relating to fermentation.

"I believe that the next decade will develop facts on hormones in relation to life processes and inheritance as well as relating to the secretions

Dr. Russell pointed out that the foundation offered wealthy men an opportunity to do great public service by giving financial assistance, but stressed the fact that the foundation will not accept bequests unless it can have full control of their use.

Packet Aground On Sandbar Near Alton

Alton, Ill., Aug. 1—(A.P.)—Sixty passengers were taken off the packet Bald Eagle today when it went on a sandbar in the Mississippi river near here, due to the extremely low level of the water. The passengers were transferred by motorboat from the Bald Eagle to its sister steamer the Cape Girardeau. No difficulties were experienced.

While navigation above and below St. Louis remains feasible, it is difficult and steering must be with precision.

The Bald Eagle was returning from an excursion to Keokuk, Iowa, and had landed at the Alton wharf to discharge six passengers. As it departed it ran onto a sandbar 300 yards out. Half an hour later the Cape Girardeau came along on the way back from an excursion to Starved Rock and took aboard the passengers. The crew remained with the Bald Eagle.

The stage of the Mississippi today was the lowest ever recorded in July or August.

TWO CAPITAL ROBBERIES

Washington Aug. 1—(UP)—Two daylight downtown robberies within 24 hours have put the entire Capital on guard. A runner for Mt. Vernon Savings Bank was kidnapped, robbed of $4,000 and thrown out of an automobile in a suburb shortly before noon. Yesterday bandits took a $7,000 payroll from Miss Eleanor Page, Assistant Treasurer of Children's Hospital on the front steps of the institution.

Blood transfusion was resorted to yesterday when Smith's condition suddenly became worse. Physicians said today that he is not yet out of danger.

Smith submitted to the tonsil operation last Saturday.

MYSTERY IN DEATH

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 1—(UP)—Oscar F. Ott of Steger, died at a local hospital today, from a disease thought to have been hydrophobia. Ott, who had been a patient at the Veterans' Hospital at Dwight, told local officials that he left that institution last week because he felt he was not receiving the proper attention. A note found on his person said that he had never received any "shots" for hydrophobia at the Dwight institution.

BOOST LIVESTOCK RATES

Washington Aug. 1—(AP)—An increase of about four per cent in livestock freight rates to eastern cities effective October 15, was approved today by Interstate Commerce Commission decision.

The key rate to the new schedule, which is that borne by livestock shipments from Chicago to New York City and other population centers nearby, is now 50.5 cents per 100 pounds. The commission's decision today allowed that to be increased to 53 cents.

$200,000 FIRE IN B. C.

Vanouver, Wash., Aug. 1—(UP)— Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a block of one and two story structures in downtown Vancouver today. Damage was estimated at $200,000. Lodgers in a rooming house were routed when the flames menaced the building.
